

Workplace Benefits Policy

Category: Benefits | Effective: January 2025 | Version 1.0

The Workplace Benefits Policy is designed to outline the comprehensive range of benefits provided by inmind.ai to support the well-being, professional growth, and job satisfaction of its employees. This policy ensures compliance with Lebanese Labour Law while reflecting the company's commitment to fostering a positive and supportive work environment. The following sections detail the specific benefits available, eligibility criteria, procedures to access benefits, timelines, exceptions, and both employee and employer responsibilities.

1. Health and Wellness Benefits

The company provides health insurance coverage to all eligible employees. This includes medical, dental, and vision benefits, ensuring employees have access to essential healthcare services. Specific provisions include:

- Coverage: The insurance plan covers hospitalization, outpatient services, dental care, and vision correction as per the terms of the insurance policy.
- Eligibility: Health insurance becomes available after the successful completion of the probation period (a standard period of three months unless otherwise specified in the employment contract).
- Enrollment: New employees must submit the required documentation, including a copy of their identification card and family status declaration (if dependents are included), within 15 days of completing their probation period.
- Dependents: Employees may add dependents (spouse and children) to their health insurance plan at their own expense, with costs deducted from their monthly salary.
- Exceptions: Part-time employees, freelancers, and consultants may not be eligible for company-sponsored health insurance.

2. Leave Entitlements

The company offers leave entitlements in accordance with Lebanese Labour Law and additional leave types to support employees' personal and professional needs.

- Annual Leave: Employees are entitled to 15 working days of paid annual leave after one year of continuous service. Leave requests must be submitted at least one month in advance through the HR portal and approved by the employee's direct supervisor. Unused annual leave cannot be carried over to the following year unless pre-approved by HR for exceptional circumstances.
- Sick Leave: Employees are entitled to sick leave with pay as per Lebanese Labour Law, subject to submission of a medical report from a licensed physician. The maximum duration and pay structure adhere to legal provisions based on the employee's tenure.
- Maternity and Paternity Leave: Female employees are entitled to 10 weeks of maternity leave with full pay, as per Lebanese Labour Law. Male employees are entitled to three continuous days of paternity leave with full pay. Requests must be submitted at least two months in advance, accompanied by relevant documentation, such as a medical certificate indicating the expected delivery date.
- Other Leave Types: Employees may request bereavement leave, marriage leave, or unpaid leave under specific circumstances. These requests are subject to approval by HR and management.

3. Financial and Workplace Benefits

In addition to statutory benefits, the company provides supplementary benefits to enhance employees' quality of life:

- Transportation Allowances: Employees are entitled to transportation allowances as mandated by Lebanese Labour Law. These are calculated based on the number of days worked each month.
- Meal Vouchers: Depending on the employee's role and work location, the company may provide meal vouchers to cover daily lunch expenses. Eligibility and the monthly voucher amount are determined by HR.
- Performance-Based Bonuses: The company may award bonuses at its discretion, based on individual and company performance. Bonuses are typically disbursed annually and subject to approval from senior management.

4. Professional Development Opportunities

To foster continuous learning and skill development, the company offers professional development benefits, including:

- Training Programs: Employees may attend internal or external training programs relevant to their role. Participation requires approval from the employee's supervisor and HR.

- Certifications: The company may reimburse employees for certifications that enhance their professional skills and align with business needs. Reimbursement is subject to prior approval and submission of proof of completion and payment.
- Tuition Reimbursement: Employees pursuing higher education relevant to their job may apply for partial tuition reimbursement. Applications must include a detailed study plan, cost breakdown, and supervisor endorsement. Reimbursements are capped annually and subject to budget availability.

5. Eligibility and Conditions

- Full-time employees are eligible for all benefits outlined in this policy after the successful completion of their probation period.
- Part-time employees and consultants are eligible only for statutory benefits as per Lebanese Labour Law, unless otherwise specified in their contracts.
- Employees must comply with all company policies and submit required documentation within the specified timelines to access benefits.
- Misuse of benefits, such as falsifying medical reports or excessive absenteeism, will lead to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

6. Exceptions and Limitations

- The company reserves the right to amend or discontinue non-statutory benefits (e.g., meal vouchers or bonuses) based on operational needs, financial constraints, or legal changes.
- Employees on unpaid leave or extended absences may have certain benefits, such as health insurance, suspended temporarily unless otherwise agreed upon.
- In cases of force majeure or economic hardship, benefits may be temporarily adjusted to ensure business continuity.

7. Responsibilities

- Employees: Employees are responsible for understanding their entitlements, submitting required documentation within deadlines, and using benefits ethically and responsibly.
- Employer: The company is responsible for ensuring compliance with Lebanese Labour Law, maintaining transparency in benefit administration, and communicating any changes to this policy in a timely manner.

8. Compliance and Review

The company is committed to full compliance with all applicable provisions of Lebanese Labour Law. This policy will be reviewed annually or as required to reflect changes in legal requirements, market standards, or company circumstances. Employees will be notified of any amendments to the benefits package through official communication channels.

This Workplace Benefits Policy is intended to attract, retain, and motivate employees by addressing their professional and personal needs while ensuring alignment with legal obligations and organizational values. By offering a robust benefits program, inmind.ai demonstrates its dedication to employee satisfaction and long-term success.