

Disciplinary Action Policy

Category: Conduct | Effective: January 2025 | Version 1.0

The Disciplinary Action Policy outlines the procedures, eligibility criteria, timelines, and responsibilities for addressing employee misconduct or violations of company policies, ensuring compliance with Lebanese Labour Law. This policy is designed to promote accountability, correct behavior, and maintain a professional work environment that aligns with organizational standards and legal requirements.

Scope and Applicability

This policy applies to all employees of inmind.ai, regardless of role or seniority. Disciplinary measures may be enforced for actions including, but not limited to, absenteeism, insubordination, harassment, theft, breach of confidentiality, unauthorized use of company resources, or any behavior that contravenes company policies or Lebanese Labour Law. This policy ensures all employees are treated fairly and respectfully during the disciplinary process.

Eligibility Criteria

Disciplinary action may be initiated if:

1. An employee violates company policies or procedures.
2. An act contravenes Lebanese Labour Law or workplace standards.
3. Misconduct disrupts the work environment or jeopardizes the safety of employees or company assets.
4. Repeated offenses occur, despite prior corrective measures.

Employees will not be subject to disciplinary action for issues unrelated to misconduct, such as performance concerns, unless such performance directly violates company standards or policies.

Procedures

The disciplinary process consists of several stages to ensure transparency and fairness:

1. Incident Reporting: All incidents of alleged misconduct must be reported by the concerned party (manager, colleague, or witness) to the Human Resources (HR) department within five business days of the occurrence or discovery.
2. Preliminary Review: HR will conduct a preliminary review within three business days to determine whether the case warrants formal investigation. If the matter is minor or resolvable informally, HR may issue guidance or coaching without initiating formal disciplinary action.
3. Formal Investigation: For serious allegations, HR will initiate a formal investigation within five business days. This includes collecting evidence, interviewing relevant parties, and consulting with legal counsel if necessary.
4. Employee Notification: The accused employee will receive a formal written notice detailing the allegations, supporting evidence, and the timeline for responding (usually within three business days).
5. Employee Response: The employee will have an opportunity to provide a written response, explanation, or defense. They may also request a meeting with HR to discuss the matter further.
6. Decision and Action: Based on findings, HR and management will determine appropriate disciplinary measures. Employees will be informed of the decision in writing, including details of the corrective action and any follow-up requirements.
7. Documentation: All disciplinary actions will be documented and stored securely in the employee's file. Access to such records will be restricted to HR personnel and authorized management.

Corrective Actions

The severity of corrective actions will depend on the nature and frequency of the misconduct:

1. Verbal Warning: For minor first-time offenses, a verbal warning may be issued. This is documented internally for future reference.
2. Written Warning: A written warning is issued for repeat offenses or more serious first-time violations. The employee must acknowledge receipt in writing.
3. Suspension: Suspension without pay may be enforced for severe misconduct or repeated violations after prior warnings. The duration will not exceed the limits established by Lebanese Labour Law.
4. Termination: For egregious violations, such as theft, harassment, or breaches of confidentiality, termination of employment may be deemed necessary. Termination decisions will comply with all legal notice and severance requirements under Lebanese Labour Law.

Timelines

- Incident reporting: Within 5 business days of occurrence.
- Preliminary review: Completed within 3 business days.
- Formal investigation: Initiated within 5 business days and completed within 10 business days.
- Employee response: Submitted within 3 business days of receiving formal notice.

2. If an employee is unable to respond or participate in proceedings due to medical or personal emergencies, timelines may be extended within reasonable limits.
3. Disciplinary action may be waived for minor infractions resolved amicably without escalation.
